JAMES M. COX

James M. Cox, whose likeness appears above, is the standard bearer of the Democracy of today as well as of all precedents. As the campaign advances the assurances of the election of Cox and Roosevelt have been made certain.

BERKSHIRE, UMPIRE:

According to the annual report of F. W. Berkshire, supervisor of immigration for the Mexican border district, the military authorities have made request for the use of nine Chinese out of the 300 not remaining in federal hands of the federal authorities who were brought out of Mexico with the retreat of the Punishing expeditionary force. Fourteen of these have been employed at Fort Huachuca and the public health service will retain three. In all there were 406 of these Chinese refugees, but a few have been disposed of by return to China, Mexico or death.

The only interest attaching to the report of the immigration inspector is, What does the war department propose to do at the local hospital? Various rumors have been current, but to date nothing definite has been learned. It is significant also that the official does not recommend an immigration station at Columbus. —Dwight Graphic.

Of course Berkshire would not recommend and did not recommend an immigration agent for Columbus. He is for El Paso. El Paso is against any city within a radius of 100 miles. But Mr. Berkshire has superiors and it is through Berkshire's superiors that the Courier is working to secure an immigration agent in Columbus. Berkshire is a big man in El Paso, albeit he is small in stature in circles that swing from a larger pendulum. Berkshire would credit the morals of Gintopah. He has for an indefinite period, but like all men he has his limitations.

MAKING HIM A "PEEPING TOM."

My Dear Lady—I do not know who you are, and probably if I did this letter would be more embarrassing to write, as it is of a most intimate nature. In discussing this serious subject, I hope you will bear in mind that I have your best interests at heart, and I know the whole thing has been thoughtless on your part. Being frank about the matter, or, in other words, calling her boy and his mother's notion, I have ascertained that each night precisely at 9 o'clock you pull down your window shade, and standing behind the shade, which is of a light linen hue, and the electric light you cast a shadow picture upon the screen of life, as it were. No, sister, take this like brotherly advice. If I were you, I'd stand on the other side of the shade when I undressed. Besides, it's hard for you to resist the temptation of standing on the corner every night at exactly 9 o'clock. —Dingbat.

Larrazola Pardoned
81 People in Year

SANTA FE, N. M., July 23.—Eighty-one persons convicted of offenses under the laws of New Mexico were given their liberty under executive orders signed by Governor O. A. Larrazola during the year ending July 1, 1935.

Of these, 22 had been convicted of murder, and were serving terms that varied from 10 years to life. There were eight serving 99 year terms, another an 80 year term. These nine persons, sentenced to serve an aggregate of 872 years, served instead actual time of 98 years, or an average of a little less than 11 years. The shortest time served under one of these long sentences was two years. The shortest time served for murder was 15 months under a sentence of 15 years.

Of the total number of releases from prison, 54 were from the penitentiary, 17 from the reform school for boys and 10 from jail. There were released from the penitentiary two women, one for murder and one for larceny, and two were released from jail. There were six pardons to persons convicted of larceny of cattle, one for larceny of horses and one for obliterating brands.

The number pardoned, and crimes for which convicted, are as follows: Murder, 22; manslaughter, 1; voluntary manslaughter, 1; statutory offense, 2; larceny and robbery while armed, 1; assault with intent to kill, 2; assault with intent to murder, 1; robbery while armed with a deadly weapon, 1; burglary, 2; assault upon wife, 1; statutory offense, 1; forgery, 1; embezzlement, 2; obtaining money under false pretenses, 1; burglary from car, 1; receiving stolen property, larceny, 4; larceny of cattle, 6; larceny of horses, 1; obliterating brands, 1; crime not given in executive orders, 3. Total from penitentiary, 54.

The 17 boys pardoned from the reform school were convicted as follows: Statutory offenses, 3; incest, 2; larceny of horses, 2; larceny, 4; larceny from shop, 1; larceny of cattle, 1; breaking and entering, 2; offense not given in executive order, 1.

Since July 1 there have been nine additional pardons issued, in which were included 1 for robbery, 1 for attempted statutory offense and 2 for larceny of cattle.

Millionaire Socialist
Declared a Coward

CHICAGO, Ill., July 23.—William Bruce Lloyd, millionaire sergeant-at-large of the Communist Labor party, was today (July 23) called a coward by Assistant State Attorney Barnhart in his closing arguments. Lloyd and 19 others are charged with conspiring to overthrow the government by force.

"When arrested," said Barnhart, "Lloyd said that if he could not display the red flag here he would go to Russia. He'll not go there. He'll go to the penitentiary, where he belongs. He is a coward and has not the manhood to go to Russia."

If You Are a Bachelor
Here is Your One Chance

NEWARK, N. J., July 23.—Bachelors, front, to New Jersey!

If you are an unmarried man, 30 years of age, respectable and once had means of a sort, you had best live yourself in New Jersey, take up residence there for ten years and then enjoy a most tickled for the rest of your life.

It reads like fiction. But the will of the late Marcus L. Ward, millionaire son of Marcus L. Ward, Civil War governor of New Jersey, has provided $200,000 for a home for "respectable and aged bachelors."

The request has excited no end of comment among wealthy folk of Newark, who knew Ward, and a sudden millionaire is even hinted. John G. B. Pinner, probably Ward's best friend, declared he knew of no romance and added that while Ward was not embittered against women he didn't seem to care much for the "fairer sex."

As in this Samuel Billings, colored coachman in the Ward family for thirty years, probably knows best. He says:

"Mistah Ward was sure 'traid or 'wound, sub. He sho was? When dey build de Y. W. C. A. next do to on he set it in. 'They's too many women even' here. I's in de line to move! And we did. We moved to the club and we lived dah ever afiah."

Come in $200,000 if the Ward fortune was left to charity, almost every one in Newark being remembered except the Y. W. C. A.

Dealing with the bachelors' home the will says:

"The main object of this corporation is to provide for the proper support and suitable maintenance of such respectable and aged white bachelors, not less than 30 years of age, and bona fide residents of New Jersey for at least 10 years, provided no person, as may have lost the means which they once had for their own support."

Romaho Mining Co.

Capitalization $400,000

THIS city, like all others, has, since any house change was in sight, been visited by salesmen representing every known stock company in the country; and thousands of dollars have been spent for various schemes, some good, some bad.

At present there is a practically local organization, made up of men their townpeople can call by their first name. The officials of the Romaho Mining Company are men who would not lead their names to a "scheme" of any description.

The prospects of the Romaho Mining Company are based on practical knowledge of ores actually in sight in the Tres Hermanas Mountains, and on the opinions of the best known mining engineers in this section of the United States.

Machinery has been ordered, some delivered, and actual work has been begun developing ore bodies on the claims of the Romaho Mining Company, and the future looks easy to those who already have invested. If you are not among this number you should be.

The stock of this company is $1 per share and none will be sold for less. Get in on the ground floor. Your investment will earn money for you and it will earn money for Columbus, because this town will sell the supplies to the new mining camp. Send your order for shares in Tenney Williams & Co., the brokers for the Romaho Mining Company.

NOT AT HOME.

Some fever had broken out in the village and the local policeman had been appointed to call upon all owners of pigs and take particulars of each case.

Happening at the door of an old cottage, he was confronted by a stern-looking woman, who curtly asked him what he wanted.

"A've called to see the owner," said the constable.

"He's not," sturdily replied the woman, and banged the door.—From an English paper.
